A Report That A Bomb Has Been Set

An Investigation Started from Viewpoints of Both Wicked Mischief and Bomb-Killer

In the afternoon of the 6th, there was a telephone call from an unidentified woman to Chicago Police Department saying that she had set a bomb, and the police had their police -men and others totaling to 50 in number searching for the bomb and this woman.

The call came to the receptionist of the police around 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the 6th and it only said to the person who answered the call, "I have set a bomb in a car. It's my retaliation.", and the call was dropped abruptly.

The person in charge said it was the voice of a woman of about 40 in years and the police immediately made a thorough examination of the cars in its parking area to find nothing suspicious of a bomb.

Mr. Mcreiger, the chief of Chicago Police Department, said, "No bomb has been found within the premises of the police. It is most probably a wicked mischief, but for safety sake, it is considered necessary to make a search covering the whole area of the city. Cooperation of the citizens is requested."

38 number of their policemen and 15 number of bomb-treating crew are now hurriedly engaged in locating and identifying the said bomb and the woman who called throughout the city, as well as in raking up the list of bomb-killers and the relationship between the past bomb crimes and a woman of about 40 years in age.

The police is calling to the citizens that if they have come across a suspicious woman and a car they are requested to report to the police immediately and that they should be mindful of a bomb.

During the period of 10 years from 1930 up to last year, bomb explosion cases considered to be the crimes of Mafia reached to several tens and therefore the police is expected to solve this case promptly and keep the fully watchful set-up in succession.

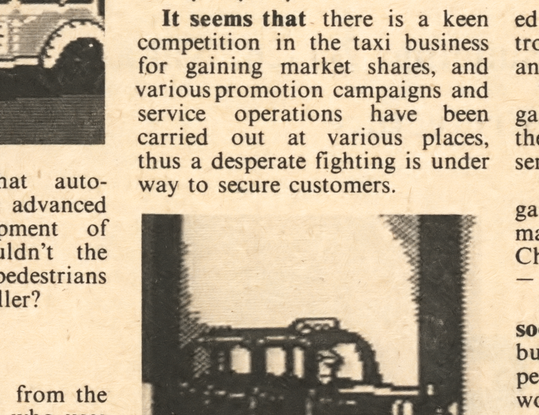
A Bar Proprietor Found Shot to Death

A Hidden Casino in the Bar's Wine Storage



At the dawn of the 5th, in the office of "Joes-Bar" located on the 2nd floor of the bar's building on Chicago's Peoria street, the dead body of Mr. Joe Seagel, the owner of this bar, was found.

One of the bar's regular goers who visited the bar in the afternoon of the 6th found it closed, and wondering what happend he want up to the office on the 2nd floor of the bar to find Mr. Seagel dead, and reported to the police.

An investigation conducted by Chicago police Department and Investigation Section II revealed that Mr. Seagel's death is estimated to have come at about 3 o'clock in the morning of the 5th, and the body had three bullets shot in it, and from these three bullets it has been determined that the fatal weapon that put him to death is a 38-caliber gun.

The police Department determined it to be a case of murder and posted an urgent patrol line. It also released that Mr. Seagel was the owner of "Joes-Bar" and had been marked on suspicion of running a hidden casino.

Through the on-the-spot survey of this murder case, a hidden door and a hidden casino were found in the bar's wine storage. The casino was also provided with a secret wayout which enabled going out through sewerage. The police considers that there is a high possibility of the murderer having used this secret wayout, and is searching for things left behind and atarted the investigation of frequent visitors of the bar and Mafia which is thoutht to have been related with Mr. Seagel.

The police is hurriedly trying to find witnesses and to identify the gun used as the weapon. Further, the police is growingly becoming confident that this murder was due to the trouble with Mafia over the casino or with customers over money.

A Crocodile Escaped

A Crocodile Has Escaped From a Zoo, Permission Granted To Shoot It Dead.

It was disclosed on the 6th that around the dawn of December 5th the key to the animal's cage of the Chicago Zoo in the Chicago Central Park was found broken and a crocodile missing.

The crocodile was a popular one-year-old male, born in India, named "Kavarn". Chicago Police Department started the investigation as a case of theft since crocodile's hide may be used for variety of products, but it was found that the key to the cage had been broken due to it's being time-worn, and the police, considering that the crocodile escaped because the door became open as the key was broken, is now inquiring into the circumstances asking the responsible person of the zoo and the person in charge of breeding.

Mr. Mike, (25 years old) who was taking care of the crocodile said, "For the most part it was an abedient crocodile and was popular with children. I want to find it as quickly as possible and have it returned to the cage."

Mr. Smith, the zoo director, said, "I'm very sorry to have caused disturbances to the citizens. I can't say anything till the reason why the key came to be broken is made clear, but I'm of the opinion that there must have been no fault on the part of our administration. The crocodile has a strong tail, not to mention its canine teeth, so it's very dangerous to take it easy and go near it. I'm sorry for the crocodile "Kavarn" but I'm determined to leave it to the police how to treat it, since it may pose a threat to the safety of the citizens."

The police will mobile their 30 policemen and with the cooperation of 30 hunters belonging to the Chicago city hunting association will search for the crocodile at large.

The sewidents nearby are reminded to be watchful and if anyone has found the crocodile, he or she is requested to report to the police immediately.

This Is Editorial Depertment

Because of the nature of our work, we are often of the move in the city. It is not too much to say that a greater part of our work is to move in a car or train. One who has long been engaged in writing articles becomes familiar with the transition of transportation systems in the city. Some will even become a walking road map.

Recently streets are well equipped and the performance of cars has also been improved year by year, making it possible to move much quicker and more comfortably. The number of cars running in the city is unilaterally on the increase, and in line with it the number of traffic accidents and of the crime cases where cars are used are also sharply increasing. We even feel an anxiety that the day may not be so remote when traffic accidents become daily occurrences. It is certainly welcome that automobile society will be advanced through the development of engineering, but wouldn't the "way" on which pedestrians walk be becoming smaller?

In contrast to this, from the standpoint of a person who uses a car, the improvement of transportation situation is a favorable thing. A taxi at a time of urgency is very helpful. The writer also often uses taxies, and it is no doubt that they are becoming more comfortable to ride as compared to several years ago.

It seems that there is a keen competition in the taxi business for gaining market shares, and various promotion campaigns and service operations have been carried out at various places, thus a desperate fighting is under way to secure customers.

At present there are 8 taxi companies operating in the state of Illinois, of which 2 companies, namely, "Yellow Cab" and operating in Chicago.

"Blue Cab" has recently entered into lawsuits over the troubles with customers one after another, whereas.

"Yellow Cab" seems to be gaining popularity because of their polite attendance and good services.

"Yellow Cab" may have gained one step lead over the market share competition here in Chicago.

Development of automobile society is certainly welcome, but rather than letting the performance of cars improved, wouldn't it be necessary to pay attention to the improvement of manners of drivers and users?
